

Sunday Photo Dump: Our Baby in June

Description

Do you NEED something?

Reflecting on lifeâ€™s all 7 months of it.

Iâ€™m happy. Seeeeeeeee

Eating cucumber naked is sooooo my thing now.

Working out with dad makes me this happyâ€¦and awkward looking.

Hey there, welcome to Sunday! Howâ€™s it going?

Itâ€™s been pretty busy for the first half of the month, and things are finally starting to slow down. We started with being part of an awesome Fatherâ€™s Day campaign with Oral-B, winning first place in our first race, Avery going to her first brewery, being part of another wonderful Fatherâ€™s Day campaign with Onya Baby (love their carriers!), my birthday weekend, and celebrating my first Fatherâ€™s Day the same day Avery turned 7 months.

Weâ€™ve had a blast and the month is flying by. Holy crap, itâ€™s almost the 4th of July! Like how I rhymed there?

Anyway, instead of going on about how I feel about food and health, I am zipping my mouth and just laying on the photos of our sweet little 7 month old daughter. Not a second passes where our love for her grows even stronger; even if she screams bloody murder because we broke eye contact with her for a second.

Enjoy the pics and the rest of your weekend!

Just enjoying my carrots.

Door stops should be located in the toy aisle.

You can't be mad at me, I'm too cuuuuutttteeee!

Hey, why are my pupils so big?

Date Created
2014/06/22