

Daddy-Daughter Flipping Fun in Slow Motion

Description

Tropical Storm Bill might keep us inside, but itâ€™s not keeping us from a little daddy-daughter fun! Whoâ€™s raining on whose parade now, Bill? I thought it was funny, except that thereâ€™s no paradeâ€¦!..sigh

In lieu of spending time writing out a blog post, I thought it would be fun to record Avery and her Daddy (thatâ€™s me) running around the house and me flipping her on a pallet I made in the living room. She gets high and sometimes I let her land a little too hard, but she keeps coming back for more.

I figured slowing down some of the flipping action would make for a fun video to watch for everyone. Make sure you have your audio on as that should make for a good laugh.

If youâ€™re wondering, yes, I will do sound effects for your audio or video project. I know, itâ€™s just a gift. ðŸ˜‰

But seriously, is it just programmed in everyoneâ€™s head to make sound effects when playing with kids? I canâ€™t think of a time I donâ€™t make stupid noises when chasing/throwing/tickling Avery, or any kid really.

Hope you enjoy the video as much as I did making it. For the record, this helped wear her out for a much better nap time than the day beforeâ€¦!..

What kind of sound effects do you make when you play with kids?

Are you being affected by Tropical Storm Bill?
