

Where To Visit In The UK If You’re A Sports Enthusiast

Description

default watermark

default watermark

The island nation that is the United Kingdom is one of the most bucket listed destinations among globetrotters, and itâ€™s not surprising why. Thereâ€™s a lot you can see and do in this country in the northwestern Europe. You get to pick among England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland and each of them are treasure troves of adventures just waiting for you to open. It is not only the natural as well as architectural wonders, itâ€™s also the sort of experiences the nation can give you, and if you are a lover of sports, for example, the UK does not fall short in that area as well.

When it comes to watching, participating and following sports, there is plenty to be seen and done in the UK. From Wimbledon to cricket at Lords, there is always some place to visit if you are looking for a sporty excursion.

If you're a resident of the UK, maybe you simply want to know the best locations for sports events where you can take your kid, or maybe you want invest in some sports equipment or even quad bikes for your little ones as you have a large piece of land local to you. If that's the case, then QuadBikes R Us sells kids quad bikes that they can easily drive and can be a great place to buy legal and safe quads.

Having said that, here are the top spots in the UK for sports enthusiasts.

Cricket At Lords

If you're a fan of cricket, it's time to take a trip to where it all began and visit Lords. The best time to see it is when a live match is taking place so it's a good idea to plan well in advance. You can see the long room and the committee room and get a glimpse of how the Queen views the matches. Otherwise, take a peek in the museum for a bigger glimpse of the history of English cricket.

Darts At Lakeside

If you are one of the many who enjoys a tense game of darts, you can take a journey down to the BDO World Darts Championships in Surrey. There you will be able to soak up the atmosphere with drinks, cheers and arrows darting towards boards as you watch your favorite game. It's a friendly vibe where everyone socializes with each other so you'll enjoy it either way.

Boxing At York Hall

Near to Bethnal Green tube station, York Hall is famous for some of boxing's biggest matches. You can do paid screenings or try and get as close to the action as possible if you are willing to pay for a higher ticket price. Even though several venues in the UK have been discontinued, York Hall continues to thrive for boxing fans and enthusiasts.

Medieval Football

At Hemore Brooke, you can observe both football and rugby at its finest. You can find games that last up to eight hours long and are played by teams of up to a hundred members. For sights and games you will never forget, these games leave delicacies at the door and bring a new wave of fire and fight to the game so many love.

Grand National Horse Racing

If you are a fan of horse races, the Grand National is a must-see. As you suit up for the renowned world-famous event, you can get involved with the prize money and hedge your bets. The high energy atmosphere has been running since 1839 so it has built up quite the reputation and from hosting the royals to affordable enclosures, you can choose whichever way you want to go.

Tennis At Wimbledon

default watermark

default watermark

Renowned for hosting some of the best games and tennis stars in history, Wimbledon welcomes tons of locals and travellers for every tournament. It's developed a high amount of anticipation and being in the heat of summertime, brings campers and even hermits out of their shells.

These are just some of the top locations around the UK for a sports enthusiast such as you.

Date Created
2019/06/21

default watermark