

Red-Hot and Blue-tiful: #MySundayPhoto â€“ 07.26.15

Description

My wife was out in our backyard with Avery following her every move the other day and both were keeping quite busy. It was hot, as usual, but it didnâ€™t seem to slow our little busy toddler down a bit. Kelley brought the camera outside to snap a few shots and ended up capturing this close-up of her red-hot cheeks and beautiful blue eyes.

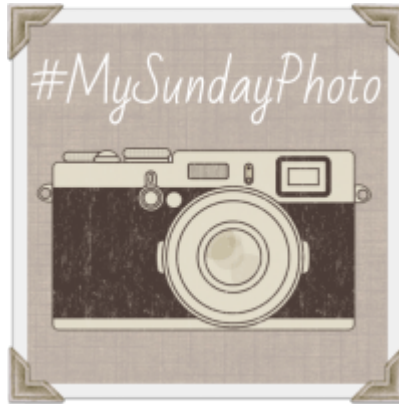

Another job well done by my wife for getting such a great shot. Maybe Iâ€™m a biased parent, okay, I am (arenâ€™t we all?), but her stare goes right through you. Not in a scary â€œIâ€™m going to haunt you.â€• kind of way, but more of a â€œHi, Iâ€™m cute, will you play with me?â€• way.

I love her deep stare photos, and it never gets old staring right back into her vibrant blue eyes.

Does your kidâ€™s face turn bright red after playing outside?

Do you have a favorite â€œdeep stareâ€• photo of your kids?
