

1 Year Photos With A Blanket, A Basket, and Pretty Pink Balloons

Description

Ten days from now, at precisely 4:13 pm, Avery will officially be one year old! #holycrap

That means she has ten days left to start walking so we can watch her run around for her birthday. Pretty slim chance, huh? Really though, thatâ€™s okay with me, she moves around just fine on her hands and knees anyway.

We just had Averyâ€™s one year pics taken at a small botanical gardens near where we live and the day was thankfully really calm and beautiful. Besides the annoying mosquitoes and Avery being a little very fussy, the photo session was pleasant and turned out great.

Iâ€™m cutting it short with words and just want to share my favorite photos here. Enjoy!

All photos posted were taken professionally by Kristin Hafner of Kristen Hafner Photography. She was very helpful during the photo session and since she has kids of her own, was understanding of Averyâ€™s fussiness and how to deal with it.

default watermark

default watermark

I love the black and white one with Going Mom and Avery! Itâ€™s now the background on my computer so I can see it every time I turn it on!

Did you have or do you plan on having 1 year photos taken of your baby?

Any themes youâ€™re going for?

Date Created
2014/11/05