

4 Awesome Things To Do With Your Kids On The Weekend

Description

The weekend tends to be more relaxing and freeing than the week. While Monday – Friday hold us back with school and work, the weekend is our time to go out, let loose, and have fun with the people we love the most. Here are 4 awesome things to do with your kids on the weekends. You could start this weekend!

1. Ice Skating

Ice skating is a fun activity that will keep you and your kids active on the weekend. Ice skating is the perfect activity when the weather is cold. If it's warm out, you could always go rollerblading or try something different.

1. Arts And Crafts Projects

Arts and crafts projects are ideal if you can't get out for whatever reason. Each child could come up with their own project, or they could come up with different versions of the same project. Having a fully stocked arts and crafts kit will mean they can make whatever their heart desires.

1. Take Them To The Library

Libraries are hugely underrated. They often have activities for kids on the weekend, so check with yours and see if there's something you can attend. If not, just take them and pick out a book anyway. Get them into reading from a young age and keep your library alive!

1. See A Show

Why not see a show? There are lots of shows that will get you and your kids talking – use the infographic below to pick the right one.

THE BROADWAY SEASON

37

new shows premiered in the 2018-19 season.
Here's a look at how women were represented.

ONSTAGE
CHARACTERS
Footer Tagline

look at Broadway Shows

Date Created

2019/11/13

default watermark