

Smartphone Photo Dump: Looking Back a Year

Description

I was looking through pictures on my phone the other day, and WOW, thereâ€™s so many things I forgot about! As new parents, itâ€™s mostly Avery pics along with one date night worked in there, but thought it would be neat to do a photo dump from my phone a year ago.

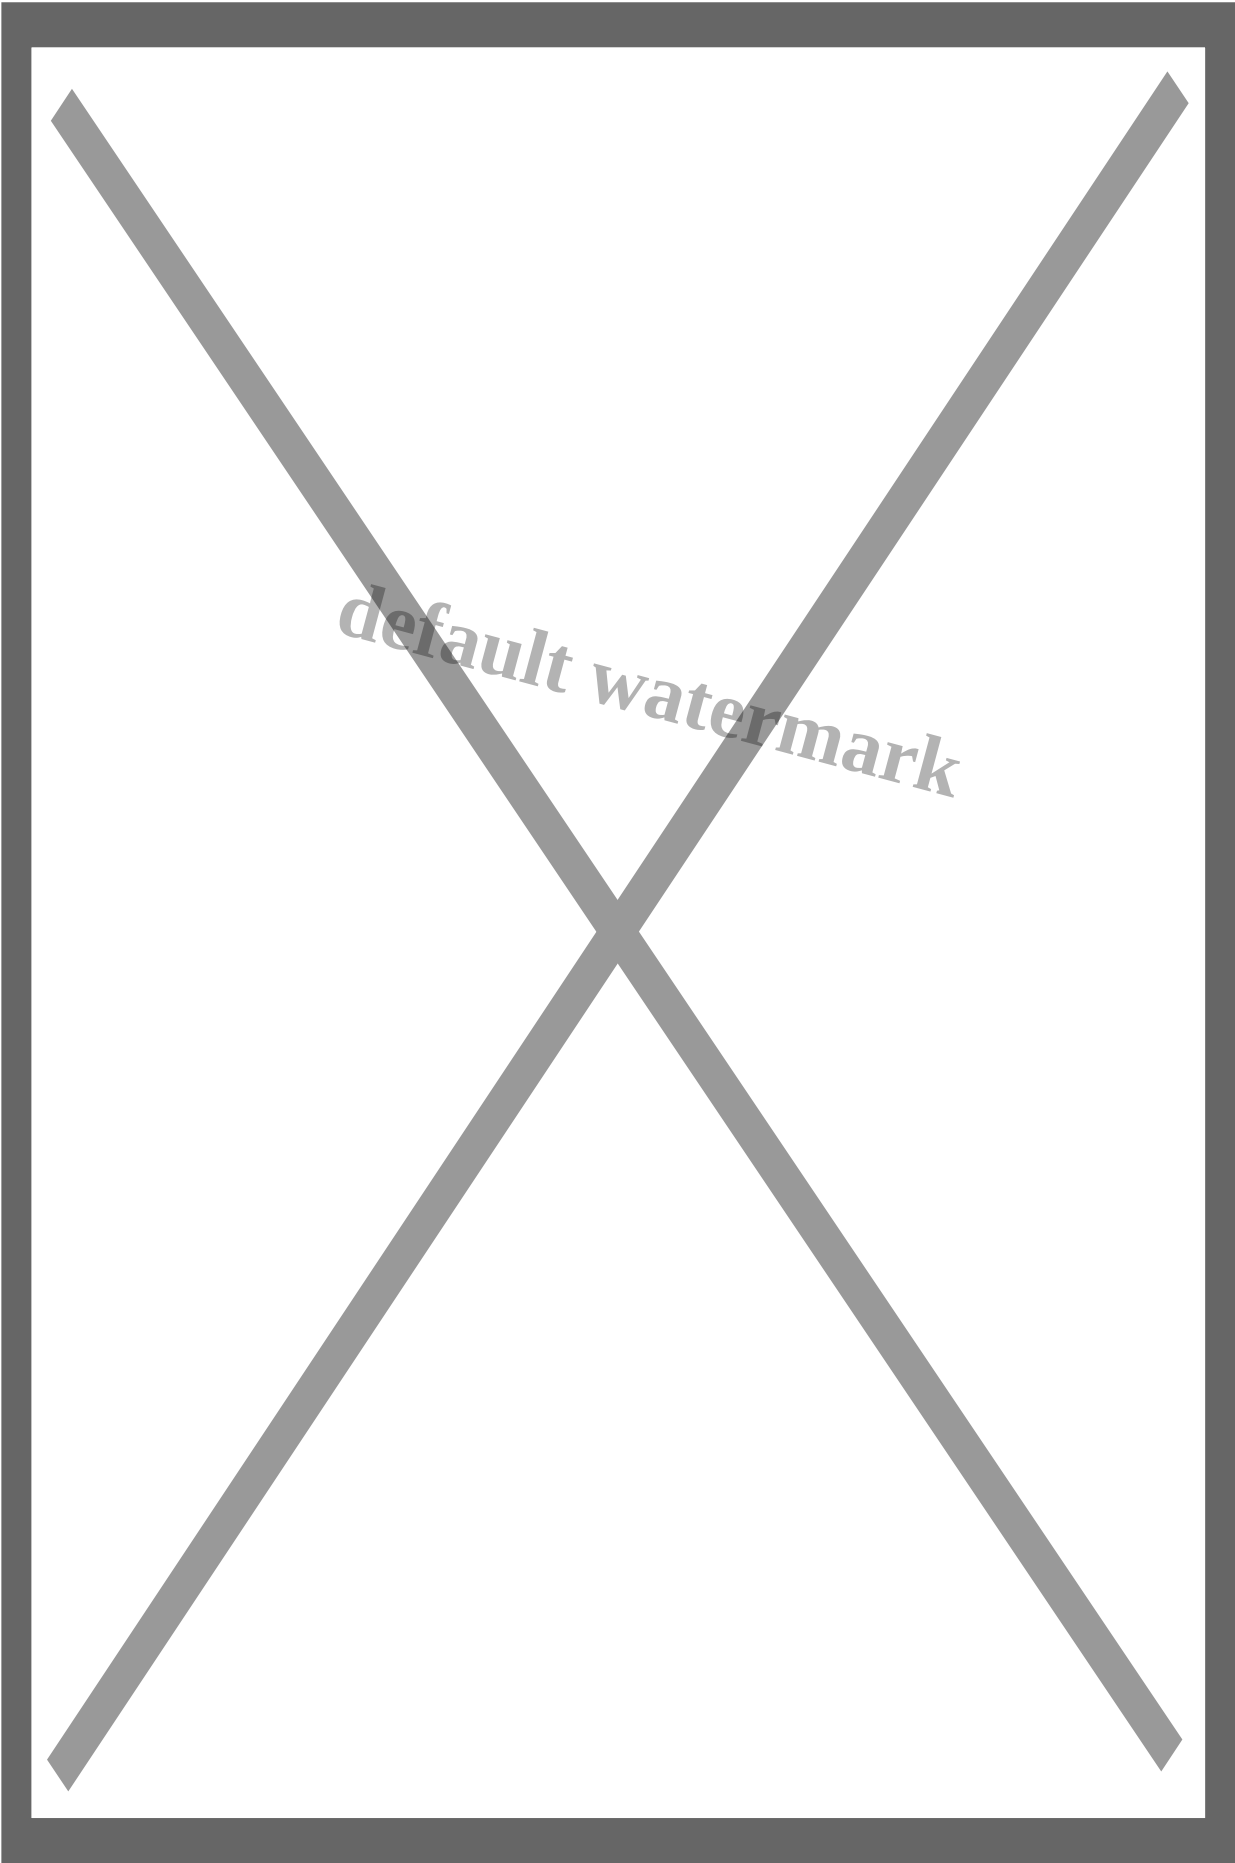

Avery has changed so much (I guess teeth really make a difference), and itâ€™s amazing just how much happens over the course of a year. Well, Uncle Preston not knowing how to hold a kid hasnâ€™t changedâ€¦

This was one of the first times I wore Avery on my back in our Onya Baby NexStep. Notice the excitement on her face. Or maybe thatâ€™s her getting tired of my selfies.

We love a sleeping baby. Bonus points when you can get this close with the lights on to snap a pic and they stay asleep!

Hey, it's a date night! We went to a BYOB paint class while G-Ma watched Avery. Good times with my wife!

For some reason, Kelley's jellyfish got to stay out, but mine had to go in the closet. I don't get it.

More sleeping. We just wanted to go a cuddle with her, but would never dare do such a thing!

This is a sight weâ€™ll never see again. Now sheâ€™s always standing and pointing out our shirt, shorts/pants, and butt. Notice how I kept it safe with the oven on in the background.

Câ€™mon, I know all parents love the sight of their sleeping kid(s). Never gets old!

Now sheâ€™s excited about the Onya, after I took it off. This changed and she still loves riding on my back to get a better view of everything around.

This is marks the beginning of her sharing the love of Zevia with Mommy and Daddy.

No, I wasn't auditioning to be Bane in the next Batman movie. This is an elevation training mask I just got and decided to go for a leisurely stroll with Avery in the Onya Outback. If a baby can get embarrassed, she definitely was that day.

Hmmm, funny, this is how a lot of our meals still look todayâ€¦

Before the need for a gate in the garage while working out, this jumper did just fine. I'm sure with all the jumping she did, it helped develop that leg strength for her awesome moves she does now.

Maybe I'll start making this an end of the month thing where I share pics on my phone from that month a year ago. Hope you enjoyed the past pics, and keep a lookout at the end of August!

Go back a year ago on your phone and see if there's anything you find that you forgot about.

Find anything cool/interesting?
