6 Throwback Thursday Posts from August 2014

Description

Is Throwback Thursday bittersweet for any other parents out there? Bitter, because so many things happen so fast and your baby (even if theyâ€™re a teen, theyâ€™re still your baby, right?) is growing up. Sweet, because so many proud moments have happened and well, itâ€™s also great that your kid is growing. Not to mention weâ€™re getting older too! Bleh!

Looking back a year ago, we were still holding Avery and rocking her to sleep for naptime and at night, but now thatâ€™s a thing of the past. Going Mom has been successful a few times, but I have had no such luck. But thatâ€™s what memories are for, right? And since parenting seems to zap our memories sometimes, thatâ€™s where the internet (blogging/social media) lends a hand.

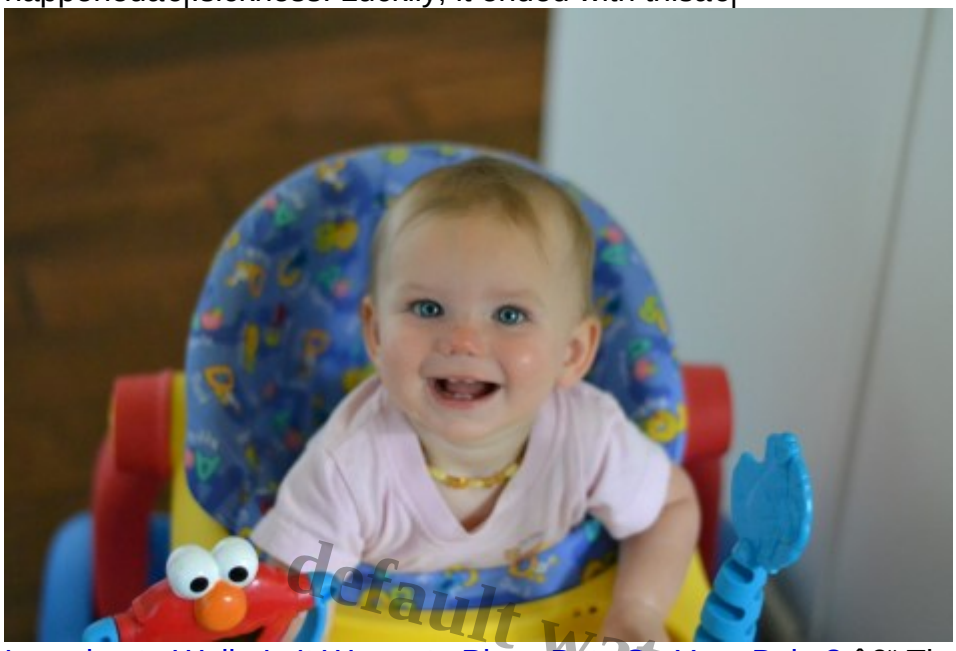
default watermark

Let us now travel back a year to see what I was blogging about in August of 2014. Here are 6 of my favorite postsâ€¦

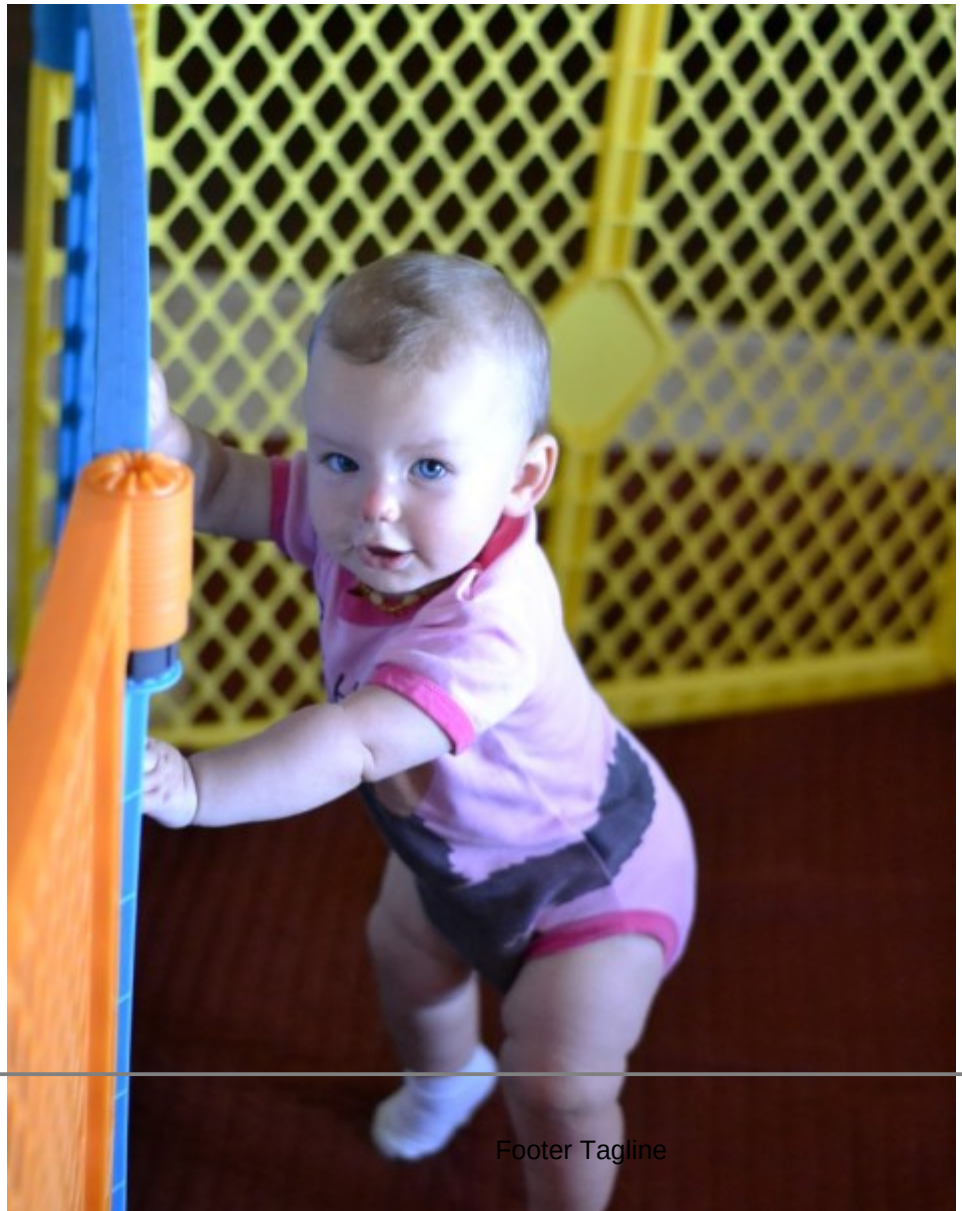
1. My Wife Wins Again, Our Baby Throws Food, and More Banana Fun Facts #5 â€“ She always wins, and other dads even agreed with this one thing when you have a house of girls. Avery has changed a lot, but she still throws her food every now and then.

Goodbye, broccoli!!

2. Uh Oh, Our Babyâ€™s First Cold! â€“ We waived her coughs off as no big deal, but then it happenedâ€¦.sickness! Luckily, it ended with thisâ€¦



3. Learning to Walk: Is It Wrong to Place Bets On Your Baby? â€“ The funny thing is, I wouldâ€™ve totally lost all bets since she didnâ€™t start walking until around 3 months later!

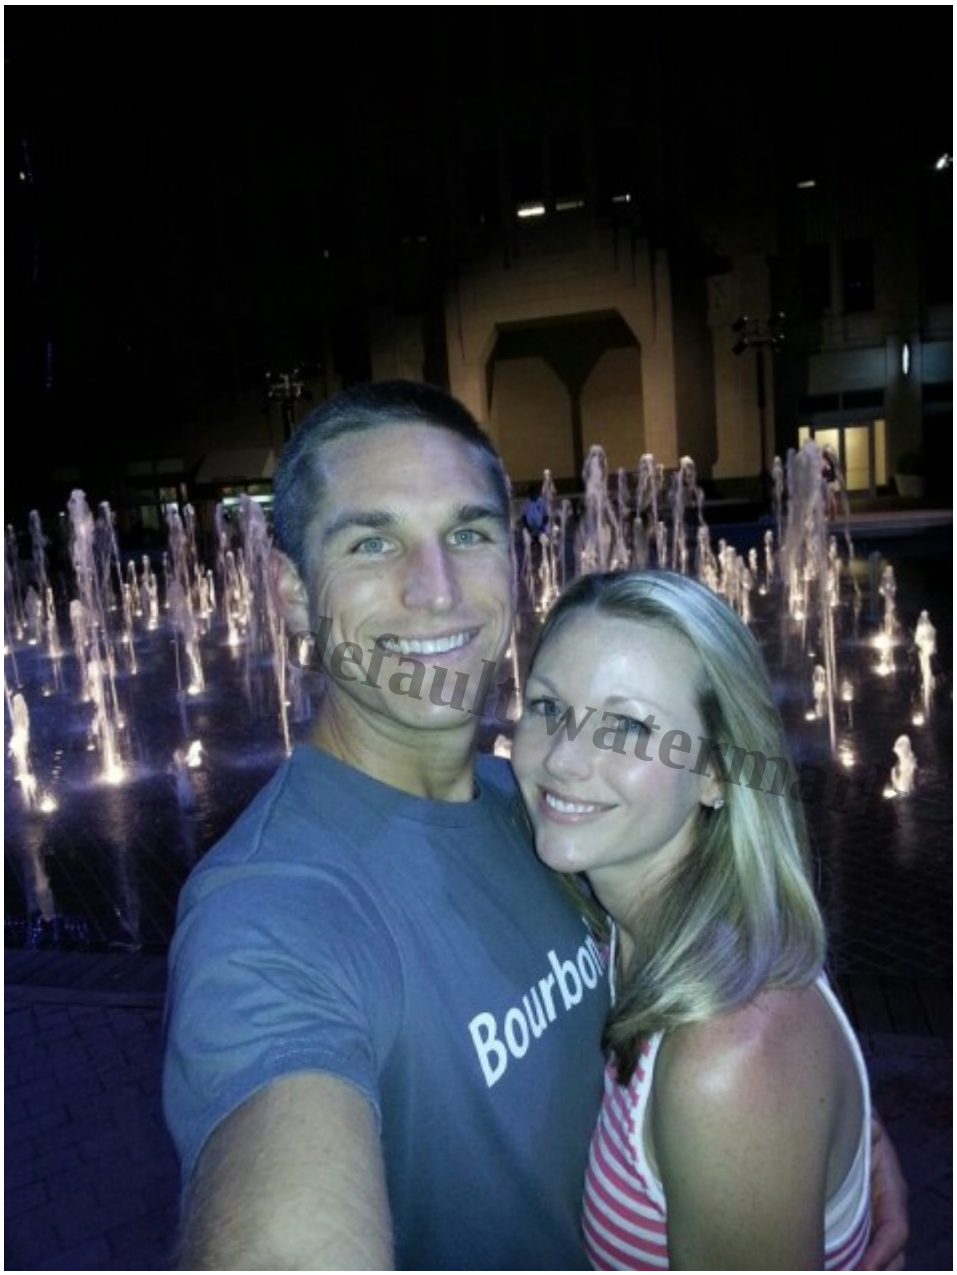


Walker in training.

4. How My Daughter Is Saving My Life â€“ Stress, it had built up for years before Avery, and although having kids is no walk in the park (unless, that is, youâ€™re walking with them in the park), itâ€™s a different kind of stress. I write about that here.

Daughter vs Dishesâ€¦.hmm, easy choice!!

5. Free Food And Booze Plus A Flat Tire: Our 7th Wedding Anniversary Recap â€“ How could I not relive this experience as we celebrating moving beyond the itchy phase of marriage?



default watermark

6. Having A Daughter: Learning to Conquer The Fear of Fatherhood â€“ I proudly got this published on The Huffington Post, and hold the words near and dear to my dad heart.

August was a big month last year and it turned out to be a big month this year as well. Maybe Iâ€™ll share some of the posts again when August 2016 rolls around. No rush though! Year hear that, time? Easy does it nowâ€¦.

Hope everyoneâ€™s week is going well. Going Mom comes back home tomorrow!!! Yay!!!!

Date Created
2015/08/27