

Bathroom Puns and No More Bottles!

Description

Nothing like a few Friday bathroom puns to pass the time until you officially start the weekend, right? Obviously, I could do more than just bathroom puns, but then Iâ€™d never get crap done. Ba-Zinga!!!

Wow, weâ€™re off to a great start already! Iâ€™ll be sure to keep things moving to avoid a clogged brain. Butt first, I want to share what makes me so happy to say â€œgoodbyeâ€•. We are done with bottles!

As you can see, Avery was a little hesitant about putting them up, but I told her she has new sippy cups to use since sheâ€™s older. She asked to use a bottle just one more time, or maybe she was flipping me the birdâ€¦!

Whatever she was saying or telling me, the bottles are gone now and I'm happy to put them behind me. Her last use of the bottle is documented on yesterday's Milk Life #MilkDrive campaign post. Which, by the way, would be totally cool of you to help our Southern team of dads out and donate for the great cause. I mean, I am giving you bathroom puns here. ðŸ™, default watermark

Yeah, please help families in need. Oh, and tell me where the bottles are hidden.

It seems like she should've been done with bottles already, but I think this is quite normal, especially for breastfed babies. Which, by the way, my awesome wife is still nursing like the rock star that she is! Now, about those diapers

Ahhh, diapers, perfect segueway to bathroom puns; enjoy!

- All of the toilets were stolen in the police station. Detectives have nothing to go on.
- A man was having issues peeing and asked his doctor what it meant. “Urine trouble.” the doctor said.
- Constipation is a pain in the ass.
- My whole family has problems with diarrhea, it runs in our jeans.
- Urinals are pretty tough, they take no crap!
- You can never hear a pterodactyl urinate because its P is silent.
- A house without a toilet? Seems uncanny.
- Everyone had fun at the park, but after dropping my watch in the toilet, I had a crappy time.
- The toilet was backed up from feeling crappy, but when I said it had beautiful porcelain skin , it was flushed.
- Life as toilet paper has it’s™ ups and downs. You’re™ either on a roll or taking crap from some asshole.

True, some of these are corny, but I think a lot of us will agree that the cornier the better. Right? Anyone?

Well, I hope you don’t™ feel like this was a waste of your time. Enjoy your day and have a great weekend!

When did you get rid of the bottles for your kid or are you still using bottles?

Do you think it’s™ easier with or without the nipples containers?

Date Created
2015/06/12