If My Baby Could Tweet and Use Hashtags

Description

Itâ€™s the coolest thing lately, using hashtags for everything! Every show has its name in hashtag at the top of the screen and people even talk in hashtag; me included.

I used to make fun of hashtag use and seriously got annoyed because Iâ€™ve always know it as a pound sign. Mainly because, IT IS!

When you get an automated voice on the phone, it doesnâ€™t say â€œPlease enter your password followed by the hashtagâ€•. Not yet at least.

But, I have succumbed to its use and do it daily. #igiveup

See?

So I started to wonder what my 6 month old daughter, Avery, would say in hashtag if she knew how. And thus, my post was born! Hereâ€™s my attempt to put hashtag words in Averyâ€™s mouth for some of our recent pictures.

Enjoy!

Dad called the hashtag a pound sign! #WTF

#SomebodyPayAttentionToMe

#Damn

And picture number 1,033 for the dayâ€¦.#StopDad

Iâ€™m still here. #PhotoBomber

Go ahead, cat, make the first move. #KittyCompetition

I didnâ€™t actually mean for you to make a move! #GiveMeTheRedDot

I have to feed myself with this?! #BringBackBoob

Just doin what I do. #RaspberrySelfie

It stinks. #WhoFarted

It was me. #BroccoliMadeMe

What, another picture session? #DontLookDontLookDontLook

Those stupid waving fingers always get me. #Crap

I think I just have to fartâ€¦oops. #ChangeMyDiaper

Not all toys are fun. #IMissTheRedDot

Yeah mom, I love the bow. #Ppthhhppthhhppthhppthh

Go ahead, ask me another question you already know I canâ€™t answer. #BabyProblems

Now that I use hashtags on a daily basis, I get how useful they are for social media and business, but there will always be a part of me that questions how and why the ever originated. But, like most things with technology, you just have to go with the flow.

What are your thoughts on using hashtags?

Any personal stories?

Donâ€™t you call it the pound sign?
