

Six Gifts for the Active Dad this Fatherâ€™s Day

Description

Fatherâ€™s Day is on the way, and for all you moms and kids out there wondering just what to grab that special dad in your life, I know it can be tough to narrow down gift ideas. Whether youâ€™re shopping for your dad or for the father of your children, if heâ€™s an active guy, you can appeal to his health passions and take your Fatherâ€™s Day gifts from ordinary to extraordinary. From sports tickets to family adventures, the latest in melbourne storm merchandise (or whoever their team is), to gym necessities, youâ€™ll find something for your active dad on this list.

1. Tickets to a Game

If your dad is an avid sports fan that knows his favorite playerâ€™s stats like he knows his own childâ€™s birthday, then make sure he gets the chance to see his idol in action with tickets to a game. Check out Ticketmaster to see if there are any games coming to a city nearby in the near future, or plan ahead and buy accommodations out of town for a surprise trip that will blow his mind. If you find the tickets have already been sold out, just check out Craigslist or Stubhub to grab resale tickets.

2. A Fitbit

If heâ€™s all about staying in shape and pushing his body to be the best it can be, you canâ€™t go wrong with a Fitbit. These awesome activity trackers will give him a plethora of important health information, helping him reach the recommended amount of steps each day, track his food, and keep his heart rate in check. There are various models out there at different prices, so you can find something that matches your budget and appeases your pop on Fatherâ€™s Day.

3. Quality Earphones

If heâ€™s a runner or gym rat, heâ€™s likely got a playlist of pump-up jams that get him in the mood to pump iron and pound the pavement. If thatâ€™s the case, make sure he gets to listen to his sweet tunes with the best audio possible and buy him a pair of high-quality earphones. Check out the JayBird X2 wireless earbuds. Theyâ€™re a bit of an investment, but the quality is more than worth the price tag, especially if you know your dad will get great use from them. He can get rid of those pesky wires and answer any emergency calls while heâ€™s at the gym getting a great workout in.

4. A New Gym Bag

If heâ€™s always out the door and on the way to the gym to follow his daily workout regimen, make sure he can get all his essentials to and from with stylish ease. A new duffel will help him go from home to office to gym in one fell swoop and keep all of his gym necessities contained, whether itâ€™s shower essentials after a sweaty session or his work clothes to go from gym to desk in the morning.

5. An All-Out Adventure

Your active dad is likely an adventure-happy fellow, and if he spends a lot of his time chasing adrenaline pumping activities, then an experience gift is probably right up his alley. Websites like Excitations.com offer a variety of exciting events to take part in. If your dad loves fast cars, take him for a spin in an exotic speedster for the day. If he's a water sports enthusiast, a white water rafting trip will be the present he never knew he needed. All you have to do is enter your zip code and the website will pull up all the nearby activities that you can purchase for him. This is sure to be a one of a kind present that will make this Father's Day more than memorable.

6. Sports Gear

If your dad is an active member of intramural sports teams, then you can't go wrong with new sports gear. Baseball bats can be a great gift if he's part of a league as they are constantly evolving, with companies consistently coming out with cool new designs and functionality. In a similar vein to golf clubs, remember that just because he already has them, doesn't mean he won't want the latest and greatest.

Show Dad how much you appreciate all he does for your family with the perfect active gifts sure to give nod to his athletic passions and make this a Father's Day to remember.

Date Created

2016/06/13

Default watermark