

2016 NuttZo Ambassador + 5 Healthy Recipes

Description

Exciting news in the Going household, Iâ€™m on for my second year as a NuttZo Ambassador! If youâ€™ve followed the blog or any of my social media pages, youâ€™d know weâ€™re all NuttZo Fanatics over here, and I am looking forward to sharing the #NuttZoLove with everyone in 2016!

nuttzo, fanatic, healthy, peanut butter

Sure, peanut butter is good, but why choose good when you can have out-of-this-world awesome with organic nuts and seeds providing a host of healthy benefits? Itâ€™s delicious and something I feel good about giving to my precious little girl, Avery. She definitely has no complaints either.

Actually, I often have trouble getting it back from her.

Itâ€™s almost a daily stand-off. Guess itâ€™s no surprise when she hugs the jar and proclaims her love for NuttZo.

Since weâ€™re all busy in midst of the holiday season, I wanted to kick off my renewed role as a NuttZo Ambassador by sharing 5 of my favorite quick and healthy recipes I shared this past year. These are perfect for entertaining or making just for yourself.

Microwave NuttZo Banana Bread

Sweet & Spicy NuttZo Carrot Dip

NuttZo Cinnamon Banana Frittata â€“ Perfect Christmas morning breakfast!

No-Bake Mini NuttZo Pumpkin Cake

Single Serving NuttZo Oatmeal Cake

Itâ€™s also good in savory meals like soup. Just stir a little in for that flavor pow thatâ€™ll have everyone asking for the secret recipe. Or at least saying they like it. ðŸ™, Annnnnnn, thereâ€™s always Plan B for those not into putting something together. I even made a little rhymeâ€¦

If youâ€™re in the mood for snacking, but your time is seriously lacking,
just grab NuttZo and a spoon and youâ€™ll be happy really soon.

Hey, Iâ€™m no Robert Frost, but you get the point. Eat NuttZo, be happy and healthy.

Canâ€™t wait to share more NuttZo goodness in 2016! Have a wonderful Christmas (or other holiday) season!

Do you plan on having NuttZo as part of your holiday eats?

Whatâ€™s your favorite way to use NuttZo or other nut butter?
