

Boys Just Want to Have Pun

Description

Okay, I'm sure girls want to have pun too. But since I'm a guy, it the title only made sense. Either way, when it comes to puns, they just, well!

I've racked up a few puns since the last pun post and it's time to share. Groan, moan, laugh, cry, or stare with a blank look, whatever you do, hope at least one elicits a little smirk on your face.

- I tried to think of a geology joke but the good ones Argon. I felt boulder and tried digging deeper, but that created too much pressure and I've hit rock bottom. Guess I took telling jokes for granite.
- When the lost artist wandered into a war zone, he drew fire.
- Finding a guard you can trust takes sentries.
- Finding a good marionette to buy is complicated, there's too many strings attached.
- Chemistry teachers love giving periodic pop quizzes to their students.
- I quit working at the sunglasses business because things seemed a little shady and my future felt dim.
- War photographers shoot as many people as they want and know to never use a cannon.
- Translators for the deaf perform an outstanding service, you have to hand it them.
- There was a major conference on apathy, but no one cared to attend.
- The newly hired oil rig crew quickly lost interest in their job when they found drilling was just boring.
- Ever since the business owner needed more room for parking, he's had a lot on his mind.
- The elderly photographer tried to transition from using film to going digital, but nothing developed.
- I asked my friend why he auditioned to cast in a water play without me. He said "œl'm too swamped but meant to run it bayou since we're on the same stream." But it was too little too lake, his statement didn't seem reel.

- The tortillas tried forming a rock band, but ended up wrapping instead.
- Throwing a cat out the window makes kitty litter.
- Tennis players grunt too much when they play, I canâ€™t stand all of the racket.
- I saw Tony Stark looking upset at the doctorâ€™s office because he just found out he had anemia. I heard his friend, James Rhodes, tell him, â€œYou need some iron, man.â€
- Seeing all of the horses was scary at first, but everything kept stable since we didnâ€™t stirrup any trouble.
- She was scared when she found a skeleton her boyfriendâ€™s closet, but he was just trying tibia a little humerus. He really gets under her skin.

If you liked these enough, please share with others. My blog is feeling a little down and could use some share love. Thanks in advance!

Date Created
2016/08/05

default watermark