

Midyear Photo Timeline & An Apology to My Neighbors

Description

Can you believe half of 2015 is already over? Where does the time go? I know everyone asks this as a rhetorical question, but I™d seriously like some answers! And, if possible, maybe how to get some of that time back.™.even if we don™t have a flux capacitor, or DeLorean.

Speaking of time travel, I would start by going back to when I wrote my post from yesterday. Yeah, I™m an idiot dummy supreme asshole for referring to something about many of my kind and undeserving neighbors. I have since removed it and there™s no need to bring it up again, but just know I™m basically king asshole in asshole land and wish I could take it all back.

It only took one of my neighbors to call me out about it and as I reread the post, I developed that dreaded lump in the throat feeling of major shame. And my wife is on their side, she let me know how much of an ass I am too. Sometimes, we need others to let us know when we™ve done wrong, and this is one of those times for me.

So, to all of my neighbors, I truly and deeply am sorry for my words and ask that you please forgive me. I love our close-knit community and would hate to be shunned from hanging out with you. I™ll say it again, I am sorry and if there anything I can do to make it up to you, please tell me. Even if it™s some sort of public humiliation, I™ll do it™, to an extent. Hell, I bet Kelley would even bring the camera to post it all over social media. Whatever it takes, I just want to keep our friends!

I can™t shake this guilty conscience and it™s weighing heavy on my mind. Times like these I find solace in looking at the countless pictures of Avery from the past to present. I started wayyyy back to a year ago, but it™s crazy how much she™s changed since just the beginning of 2015.

Yeah yeah, kids grow, blah blah, I know, but it never ceases to amaze me just how much and how fast. So I went through each month of 2015 thus far and found a pic to share. Enjoy!

January 2015

600 photos from January and I wanted to post them all, so I just pointed my mouse on one and clicked.

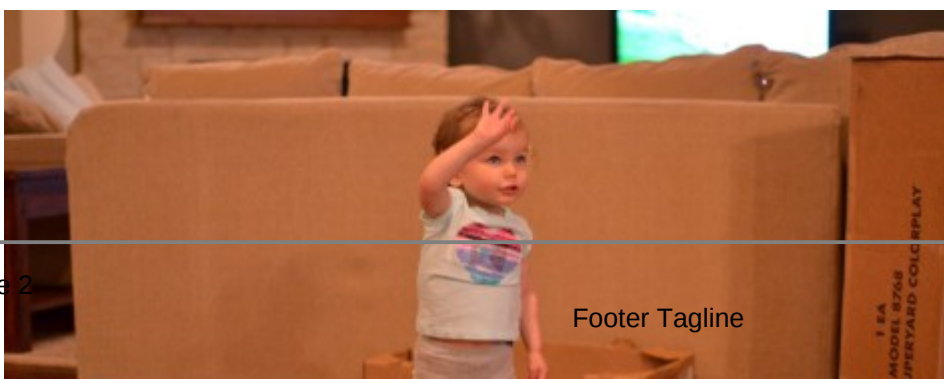

February 2015

Only a little over 400 pics this month, but figured Iâ€™d keep with the chair theme.

March 2015

No chair this time, but we did go back up to 500+ pictures. Her curls are starting to appear this month.

April 2015

We put my childhood boots on her and caught a few good pics. We need to do this again soon. 470 pics this month.

May 2015

We really slacked last month with only 315 pics. Geez, are we bad parents or what?

June 2015

Only 61 pics so far, but we have plenty of days left in the month. Her eyes are so beautiful and they just really stand out here.

I can't imagine what another 6 months will do for her growth, but I'm not rushing anything. Of course, it would be nice if she'd just tell us when she poops!

One more time. Neighbors, I apologize and hope you'll still greet me with a smile and wave when we see each other. Please, if anything, let me know how to earn your forgiveness.

Have you ever said something you immediately wished you could take back? How did you handle it if so?

Do you look back at pictures month-by-month to see how much your little one or ones has grown?
