

My Teespring Shirt: See Ya Later Excavator

Description

When your kid finds and interest in things, you naturally want to support it, right? For me, I've been wanting to create an excavator shirt for months, and finally did so through Teespring.

The design took me longer than I expected, and I'm still not completely happy with the end result. Going Mom said it should be more cartoonish. The more I think about it, I have to agree. I still like what I created and hope it sells, but as of right now, with 10 days left, 0 purchases have been made.

Whomp whomp

But here's your chance to help a fellow dad and all around good guy (or so I think!..right?) and get yourself a unique shirt for the construction truck loving kid in your life.

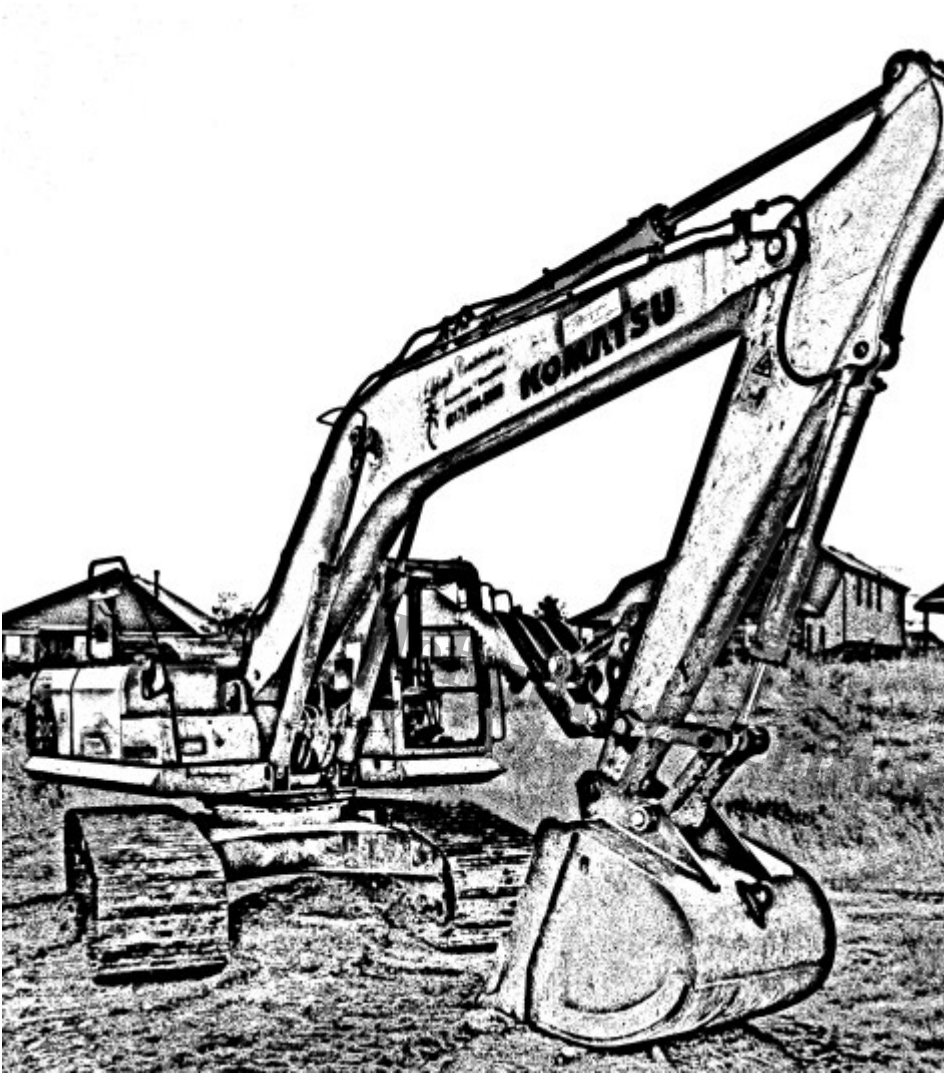

I even made another Teespring campaign so adults can get in on the action with their own shirt too.

There are several colors to choose from and I'll even throw in 50 virtual high-fives for free. That's right, FREE!

If the design is not your style, I'm working on another one for the future. Not sure if I'll use Teespring, but one way or another, it'll be available.

Let me know what you think, please. Would you buy any of these?

Something I should do different? Just give up?
