

Afro Curls: #MySundayPhoto " 10.25.15

Description

There's no doubt that I've already posted plenty of pictures that our daughter will despise me for later. This pic of her crazy afro curls is no exception.

Her hair, like most of ours, fluctuates with the current weather conditions. When it's mostly dry air, her hair keeps rather straight, but when it's humid outside, well!..

As it gets longer, I'm sure the afro effect won't be as bad, but until then, it sure is a fun sight. Right? Almost has a Medusa-like quality to it, no?

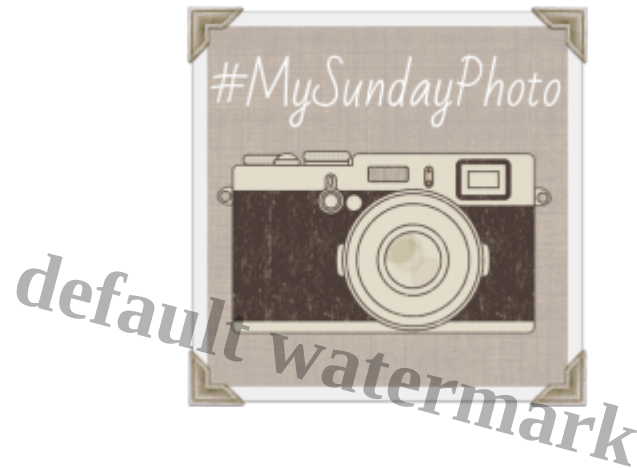

Good thing she's not cursed with turning anyone who looks in her eyes to stone or we'd all be screwed. Those beautiful blue eyes are too hard to resist! However, I would argue that her toddler temper tantrums are becoming close to Medusa standards.

Enough with comparing our daughter to Greek mythology, sheâ€™s freakinâ€™ cute and we love her crazy hair. Much like the weather around here, itâ€™s changing daily, but unlike with the weather, it never gets old to see.

Does your kid have hair that seems totally different than their mom and dadâ€™s hair?

What Greek Mythology character would you liken your kid(s) to?

Date Created
2015/10/25